All types of vessels operating within the Arctic as defined in the Polar Code area shows 1717 unique ships operating in 2019, 104 (6%) of which were tourism or passenger vessels. This is the same relative percentage as in 2013, though the actual number of individual vessels were fewer at the time at 77.